The amusement committee of the I. O. O. L. M. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Daniel, Aldrich building, on Wednesday, Dec. 1.

Miss Alice Marriotti, who has been spending several days in the city as the guest of Misses Annie and Micheline Fontana of 26 Berlin street, returned this morning to her home in St. Albans.

The United Missionary society of Hedding M. E. church will hold their regular monthly business meeting with Mrs. A. W. Gates, Franklin street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Ladies, please come prepared to pay dues.

General Manager Howard T. Sands of the Tenney company arrived in the city yesterday from Boston and is spending a few days in Barre and vicinity on business connected with the company's holdings in central Vermont.

During the absence of Conductor James J. Kanaly, who is confined by illness to his home in Montpelier, Conductor Austin Emery of St. Albans is in charge of the day passenger trains over the Barre branch of the Central Vermont railroad.

Mrs. C. H. Kendrick and little son, Ralph, who have been spending a few days at their former home in Barre and with relatives in Montpelier and East Montpelier, returned yesterday to their home in Enosburg Falls, where Mr. Kendrick is employed in a pharmacy.

Cards have been received in Barre from Edward Sampson and John Gauthier, announcing their safe arrival in Wauchula, Fla., where they have homesteaded lands and expect to winter. Arthur J. Cave of Bolster avenue expects to leave for Wauchula in mid-December for a stay of several weeks.

Passengers on the northbound Central Vermont passenger train who arrived in Barre at 4:40 yesterday afternoon report that the main line train ran into a herd of 15 cows on the Fish farm between Bethel and Randolph, killing two of the animals outright and disabling three others so badly that they had to be killed.

Among the visitors in the city yesterday were the following people: W. S. Lederer of Providence, R. I.; J. J. Walsh of Manchester, N. H.; M. Spindle of St. Johnsbury, N. H.; Humphrey of Burlington, A. H. Swett of Orleans, F. H. Dole and J. R. Reed of Burlington, R. H. Blake of Hardwick, H. H. Knapp of Springfield, F. L. Abbott of Saxtons River, H. A. Clay of Burlington and B. H. Alden of Brandon.

A wish long the dominant note in many petitions to the city council and more feebly expressed in other ways, was gratified this week when the street department completed the building of a new sidewalk extending from Summer street to the foot of the Wellington street hill on the west side. The new walk extends farther into the highway than the makeshift for a walk that used to skirt the bank and is far better adapted to the ordinary pursuits of pedestrianism. Granite curbing has been laid and the city's rights of eminent domain have caused the removal of two telephone poles that stood directly in the path of the revamped walk.

Interior decorations at the Park theatre are to be started at midnight to-night and while the work of frescoing the walls is under way decorators will begin immediately after the last show in the evening and work until late in the following forenoon. Leopold Nuisel of New York arrived in the city this morning to take charge of the work. Water colors are to be used in a design calculated to harmonize with the interior arrangement of the theatre and no pains will be spared to make the frescoing the attractive feature of the new show house. When the theatre was built early in the fall, it was found necessary to postpone the decorating to allow the production of "The Birth of a Nation."

Two Barre Town residents were arraigned in city court this morning. Joseph Willett pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication. Magistrate H. W. Scott sentenced him to pay a fine of $5 and costs of $5.45, with an alternative of 10 days in the county jail. Willett, who was arrested by Officer Harry Gamble last night, thought he would take the alternative. Arthur Knorr of Webster, who was arrested early last evening by Special Officer Joseph H. Lavery, pleaded guilty to having been intoxicated and expected to pay a fine of $5 and costs aggregating $6.50. Five respondents arraigned yesterday were taken to the county jail by Chief Sinclair late yesterday afternoon.

With the end of the open season for shooting deer closely at hand, Barre hunters who have thus far failed of success in the chase are redoubting their efforts. Officially, the season ends next Saturday afternoon at sundown, and the beginning of the week sees a number of parties enmeshed in camps at strategic points. John Mahoney resumed his duties at the American Express company's local office this morning, after passing several days in Worcester, where he shot a 125-pound deer. Another successful hunter who returned from the woods today was Adolfo Connolly of Connolly & Sons, who was one of several Barre hunters who have secured deer in Pittsfield and Mendon this year.

To-night the board of aldermen convene at city hall for the last meeting of the month. It is expected that the aldermanic street committee will report on its findings with reference to the stone crusher, which was criticized at a costly piece of machinery at the children's session last week. City Attorney William Whitcomb has been in conference with Robert G. Barber, a Northfield attorney, counsel for Fox & Eaton, and he will report to-night on the terms of settlement offered by the electrical firm for the lease of the Barre opera house. Conference between the city's legal representative and Fox & Eaton took place the day of the children's session three years ago, when the state board of health ordered the opera house closed along with other public places.
